Officer Gaines Is Having Trouble With Coal Thieves.

Beuchner Bros. Are Putting Another Story on Their Building.

Officer Gaines is lamenting. Despite the fact that Gaines, who is a special officer for the Union Pacific railway, has made several arrests recently, they didn't take. In practically every instance the prisoners after being convicted would be paroled. Then Gaines' troubles started all over again, he says.

But all his woes were topped, he says, when city officials, according to his allegations, censured him for arresting one W. Bills, a negro, who according to the officer, has caused the railway considerable trouble. "I feel that I have been unjustly censured by some of the city officers for arresting a coal thief," Gaines says. "The Union Pacific railroad has employed me to look after its interests. I caught this man, W. Bills, who is stout and able-bodied, stealing a sack of coal from a Union Pacific car. What could I have done but to arrest him? Moreover this man was intoxicated when arrested and if he hadn't spent his money for liquor, he could have bought coal."

"The records at the county attorney's office will show that this man Bills signed for thirty-six quarts of beer in August, giving his residence as 800 North Van Buren street, and for twelve quarts of liquor in September and twelve in October, giving his residence as 806 North Van Buren street. "This would have bought his winter coal," Gaines declares, "and if the man is a steady and hard worker, as he claimed, why is it necessary for him to steal coal?"

Damage to Growing Wheat. The Hessian fly and red rust are working havoc with wheat in northern Shawnee county. Farmers in the northern section of the county and in Jefferson county declare that the red rust has appeared in a form never before seen by residents of this section. The fly they say is here in large numbers. The presence of both is believed to be due to the excessive wet weather.

As a result of the rainfall and the difficulties that followed fully 25 per cent of the wheat in northern Shawnee county has not yet been threshed, it is said. Some of it, however, probably never will be threshed, it having reached a stage of deterioration that would make it unprofitable to bother with it.

Evangelistic Campaign. The big effort in the evangelistic campaign of the Second Presbyterian church will not be made until next Sunday. It was decided at a meeting held at the church Wednesday night. Following reports by the committees who have been doing preliminary work during the past week, the workers believe that the remainder of the present week could best be utilized in finishing the work already started. The meeting Wednesday night took the place of the regular prayer meeting.

The edibles contained in the boxes will be but a small portion of the "cats" at the box social to be held at the Lyman school house Friday for the benefit of the Sunday school fund. A musical and literary program has also been arranged for the occasion.

Notes and Persons. V. R. Parkhurst returned Wednesday afternoon from Leavenworth, where he testified for the city in a suit against a paving company. Mr. Parkhurst with Auto and Furniture

Aaron Sheetz of the Aaron Sheetz Grocery company went to Leavenworth this morning to visit his brother.

Work was started Wednesday on a second story to the building at 925 North Kansas street, now occupied by the Beuchner Brothers grocery. The addition will conform to the ground floor and will be used by the Beuchners in connection with their grocery business.

It is expected that the class which is to be given the work will include more than 200 candidates.

ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Wedding Is Followed by Killing of Mart Baumgardner.

A White Man Is Shot by His Negro Wife.

A wedding in the underworld ended in a tragedy at 2:30 o'clock this morning when Emma Baumgardner, colored, shot and killed her husband, Mart Baumgardner, a white man. The killing took place at the Baumgardner home, 308 West Laurent street, after a night of revelry. The Baumgardner woman says the man was intoxicated and was beating her.

Mrs. Baumgardner is being held at the police station on a charge of murder. She will be turned over to the county. In the morning she told her story with little concern. There had been a wedding in the house this night, she said, but would not tell officials who were getting married.

The celebration continued until the wee sma' hours this morning, says. Several times Baumgardner showed signs of unsteadiness and his wife claims to have warned him to quit drinking. He paid no attention to her.

It was after the wedding revelers had left at about 2 o'clock in the morning that the woman was in the parlor. Baumgardner entered. He was staggering and the woman says began to abuse her.

Can Lay in the Bed. Baumgardner's revolver, heavy and wicked looking, was lying on the bed. She snatched it up and warned him again. She stopped for a minute then plunged toward her. She fired but Baumgardner hit her arm and the bullet bored a hole in the ceiling. Baumgardner backed away. The woman shot again, the bullet hitting Baumgardner in the stomach. He staggered and lunged toward her again. Again she pulled the trigger of the gun and Baumgardner fell to the floor and lay still, a crimson stain ebbing from his forehead. He died almost instantly after the third shot had been fired.

According to the woman, Myrtle Williams and Bob Orendorf were in the house in an adjoining room at the time of the shooting. The police were at the house a few minutes after the killing. Mrs. Baumgardner was sitting in the game room where the body lay staring blankly at her victim. Officers who answered the call to come to the Baumgardner home this morning were Officers Jones and Ward. Detective Woodward and Motorcop Welch.

The shooting took place within four blocks of the place where W. E. Cowdrey, Rock Island special officer, was shot by a Mexican Wednesday afternoon.

Underclothing and shoes for children are wanted by the Provident association, as the cold weather is driving youngsters who go barefoot eight months of the year into warm clothing or pneumonia. More women than men become discontented with life at the covered farm in spite of the kind treatment which they receive," said Mrs. Lillian H. Moore, special investigator for the Provident association today. "The women have been used to running homes of their own and always maintain their personal methods of doing the housework much better than those employed by the farm and as they have little to do, they are apt to become critical. The men don't know anything about housework and are satisfied to sit and sun themselves—and eat."

Recruiting Office for U. S. Army Opened in Topeka.

A temporary recruiting office for the United States army, in charge of Sergeant Homer F. Pennington and Corporal William Sanduski, of Kansas City, Mo., has been opened at the Oxford hotel, where the two officers are stopping. The recruiting officers arrived in the city this morning from Lawrence, where they made a campaign for recruits. Their efforts there resulted in five enlistments.

The local recruiting office which was closed last March will probably be reopened by the first of the year, according to Pennington, who was in charge of the office here when it was closed.

"Father, where did they first observe April Fool's day?" "In the islands. Run along now."—Buffalo Express.

INQUIRIES WERE PROFITABLE SAYS WICHITA MAN

States He Had Heard Many Claim They Were Benefited.

Says He Finally Decided to Try Tanlac and That Medicine Brought Prompt Relief to Troubles.

Frank S. Green, who is employed by the United Sash and Door Co., and who resides at 1100 Indiana Avenue, Wichita, Kan., is the latest to testify to the great benefits being derived by the people of this city and vicinity. He said:

"I have been run down in health for the past two years. I have lost weight, a few pounds monthly during the last six months. My stomach gave me all kinds of trouble and my meals were of very little pleasure to me, as after eating my stomach would fill with gas. I would feel terribly bloated and had severe heartburn for some time after each meal. As I have had a touch of catarrh for several years, I believe it the main cause of all my trouble."

"I learned about Tanlac a few weeks ago and after making some inquiries decided to give it a trial. I have taken four bottles of Tanlac to date, and have gained ten pounds in weight. My stomach is getting better all the time. I have a better appetite. My food gives me the proper nourishment. I am no longer bothered with the bloating and heartburn after meals, and can truthfully say that Tanlac has done me more good than all the medicines I ever took in my life."

Tanlac is now on sale in Topeka at the Tully-McFarland Drug store, where W. C. Pope, the "Tanlac Man," is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of the Master Medicine. Tanlac sells for $1.00 a bottle, three for $2.75 or six bottles for $5.00.—Advertisement.
